FIELD OF INTEREST

Philosophy of History; American History; American philosophy.

PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITIES

I have delivered invited lectures at various universities in the United States, at various professional association meetings including the AHA, American Philological Association, American Philosophical Association, ASA, and OAH, and at various advanced seminars including the Yale Humanities Institute, the Bicentennial Symposium of Philosophy, the Hastings Center, and the Council of Philosophic Studies Summer Institute. A 1986 session at the meetings of the American Academy of Religion was devoted to my book Churchmen and Philosophers. I directed an NEH Institute (the Newtonian and Darwinian Revolution in American Intellectual History) in 1979. I have read manuscripts for academic and commercial publishers and served as a reader for scholarly journals and for the NEH, NSF, ACLS, APS, SSRC, and other national and local funding agencies. I have served on external academic review panels; acted as an evaluator for the Woodrow Wilson Center and Rockefeller Foundation, among others; and consulted on various aspects of the humanities for universities, philanthropic institutions, and government agencies. From 1969 to 1973 I was Consultant in Philosophy for Bobbs-Merrill Publishers and from 1974 to 1983 edited the American Quarterly. I was a member of the Woodrow Wilson Center's Academic Advisory Council and advisory editor for America: History and Life. In 1978 I was the moderator of a history discussion show, "Dateline Yesterday," on CBS-TV affiliate in Philadelphia. In 1988 and 1989 I was retained as an historical consultant for the law firm of Baskin, Flaherty, Elliott, and Mannino. From 1991 to 1994 and 1998 to 2000 on the Advisory Committee to the Program Committee of the APA.

I chaired the History Department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1979-80, 1996, and 1999, and was undergraduate chair in 1994-99, and have served on the Department's Executive Committee in 1980-82, and 1984-85 and 1994-99. I chaired the Merle Curti Prize Committee of OAH in 1979-80 and 1987-88 and served on the Phi Beta Kappa book award committee, 1993-95 and the Forkorsh Prize Committee, 1997-2006. At both Yale and Pennsylvania I have served on and/or chaired both departmental and university-wide committees. Of these I consider the most important to be those concerned with establishing criteria of intellectual excellence, e.g., graduate admissions and faculty personnel. I have received the Lindback (1989), Abrams (2000), Senior Class (2002), and Richard Dunn (2005) Awards for distinguished teaching at the University of Pennsylvania. The Teaching Company of Washington, D.C., has taped my lectures in their SuperStar Teachers Series.
